

Ryan R. Marshall ascended to the helm of PulteGroup, Inc. as its President and CEO in September 2016. Under his dynamic stewardship, PulteGroup—a Fortune 'Best Companies to Work For' honoree for the last three consecutive years—continues to flourish as one of the most notable and broadly diversified homebuilders across the United States.

Renowned for a portfolio of esteemed national brands, including Pulte Homes, Centex, Del Webb, DiVosta Homes, American West and John Wieland Homes and Neighborhoods, PulteGroup extends its reach to a diverse spectrum of consumers, operating within 26 states and delivering tens of thousands of homes yearly.

As a tenured PulteGroup employee, Ryan Marshall has supported the growth of PulteGroup through a variety of roles across PulteGroup's portfolio-- a testament to his comprehensive grasp of the homebuilding sector.

These roles have included positions such as PulteGroup's President, during which he oversaw homebuilding operations alongside the marketing and strategy initiatives, as well as Executive Vice President of Homebuilding Operations, Area President for the Southeast, and Division President in both South Florida and Orlando. His expertise is broad, having managed key facets of the business ranging from financial reporting to land acquisitions and market analysis.

Beyond his operational leadership, Marshall is also actively involved in PulteGroup's Built to Honor program which provides mortgage-free homes for deserving veteran families. Outside of PulteGroup Marshall imparts his industry insights as a board director at Floor & Décor Holdings Inc., lending his acumen to their audit committee.
